H & S Conference Will Discuss Oppor'y Classes

On Nov. 23, at 7:30 p.m., in the County Central High School, an evening conference for the County of Vulcan parents, sponsored by the Home and School Area 11 Director Mrs. Emma Smith, will be held. This is of utmost importance to all who are interested in the education of children.

The Opportunity Classes for the county have aroused considerable interest and a great deal of confusion too. What is an Opportunity Class? What will it do for our children? Who will benefit from Opportunity Classes? What will it cost parents?

To help parents to become better informed Dr. Ellis, the Public Health Officer of the Foothills Unit, and Don Green, principal of Vulcan Elementary School will bring the parents up to date on what progress has been made.

A very well known minister in Lethbridge, the Rev. Hart Cantelon, whose ideas and opinions are expressed on radio and television, will be guest speaker. His topic: Modern Day Pressures, and the Effects on the Home, Parents and Children.

An Alberta Federation member of Home and School will bring some important news of the Centennial Projects, sponsored by the Canadian Federation of Home and School, namely, "Place a Book in the Hands of Your Child," and the "Tillicum (Friendship) Project."

From the Quest Magazine we quote, "We should seek to become an informed community, and then we shall have a role to play."

Entertainment will be provided by the Junior Band of Vulcan. This is an excellent program for all parents.

Church of Brethren Conference Held At Arrowwood

The annual District Conference of the Church of the Brethren was held in Arrowwood during November 12-14. The business meeting was held on Friday and was conducted by Chester Arney, Arrowwood, moderator for the year. Elected moderator for next year was Jack Wade, Lyalta, with Rev. G. Harmon, pastor of the Irricana and Arrowwood churches, as assistant. Eldon Wray, Irricana, was elected as delegate on Standing Committee at Annual Conference for the Brotherhood.

The inspirational portion of the conference, with the theme of "God loves the world — so . . .", began Friday evening and carried through until Sunday noon. Guest speakers included Rev. Everett Fasnacht, Elgin, Illinois, missionary to India on furlough, Rev. Bruce Flora, Portland, Oregon, executive secretary of the Pacific Northwest Conference, and Rev. Mervin Lutes, Gleichen, minister of the Arrowwood United Church.

Anglican Guild Continues Study Of Church History

The regular meeting of the Anglican Guild was held in the church hall with the Rev. Cowell and eight members present. Rev. Cowell continued with the instruction on Church History. The three Creeds, one of which is said or sung at every service in the Prayer Book, are the Apostle's Creed, The Nicene Creed and The Creed of St. Athanasius.

The Apostle's Creed most frequently used comes from ancient Latin influence, the Nicene Creed used in Holy Communion is of ancient Greek influence and the Creed of St. Athanasius which is seldom used is a long, wordy effort of one of the old church fathers in early centuries of Christianity.

Final plans were made for the annual Christmas tea, bazaar and bake table which will be held in the Legion Hall Saturday. The lucky winner of the beautiful doll and wardrobe will be picked in the afternoon.

There will not be a meeting in the month of December and the election of officers will take place in January.

At a special ceremony Friday, Nov. 5 attended by the student body of County Central High School and county officials the Governor-General's Medal was awarded Kenneth Scates, son of Mrs. Stanley Scates and the late Stanley Scates of Vulcan. Shown above are Kenneth and school superintendent W. P. Eddy who made the presentation. Also in attendance were Mrs. Scates and her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Cooper, Jr.,

Town Council Approves

Engineers To Prepare Development Plan

The first step towards an Urban Renewal Plan for the Town of Vulcan was taken at the November meeting of town council following discussions with D. D. Watters of the Provincial Planning Board, Edmonton, and G. H. Luck of Walker and Newby, an engineering and surveying firm of Edmonton.

After discussing the possibilities and advisability of the town proceeding along this line, councillors requested the engineering firm to submit a General Development Plan for Vulcan, the necessary first stage in an urban renewal scheme. Cost of such a plan is about $3,500, of which amount half is paid by the Provincial Planning Board.

Centennial Projects

Application of the Vulcan Golf & Country Club to have a $5,000 irrigation project at the golf course designated as one of the town's centennial projects was approved. Two children's playgrounds, undertaken as projects of the Vulcan Kinsmen Club, were also approved as centennial projects at an approximate cost of $6,190.

Water-Sewer Arrears

Water and sewer customers whose bills are in arrears will be warned that water and sewer service will be discontinued when accounts are more than 60 days in arrears and will only be restored when the accounts are paid in full. Customers who are in arrears and have moved away from Vulcan will be proceeded against in Small Debts Court.

Building Permits

Building permits approved: Alberta Wheat Pool, $3,300 fertilizer shed.

Mrs. Vera Mitchell, $300 renovations to front of jewellery store and $3,500 addition to residence.

Wesley Fulton, $1,200 garage.

Other Business

Fred DeJong, attending council meeting as a representative of the Chamber of Commerce, asked what could be done about cleaning up the area between the highway entrance and the railway tracks, particularly in respect to the old, abandoned building in this locality. It was evident, from earlier discussions in the meeting, that the proposed General Development Plan must be in effect before it will be possible to take any action in this matter.

Council approved an application by Canadian Western Natural Gas Co. for extension of a gas main east of the railway tracks to serve outlets on the east side of the highway.

FEDERAL AUTHORITY

Under the British North America Act, there are 29 classes of subjects concerning the country as a whole — such matters as defence, trade, banking, currency, railways and canals, external relations — that are specifically defined as being within the authority of the federal government.

Reid Hill W.I. Names Officers And Directors

The annual meeting of Reid Hill W.I. was held Wednesday, Nov. 17, at the home of Mrs. E. G. McPherson with Mrs. Lorne Healy, Sr., and Mrs. Frieda McRoberts as co-hostesses. The punctuality draw was won by Mrs. Agnes McKay.

Mrs. John French presided and was assisted by secretary, Mrs. Jack Marshall. The treasurer's report was given by Mrs. C. L. Kuykendall.

Mrs. Kuykendall offered to make a quilt to be sent to the Korean Relief Appeal, with other members assisting her with the piecing and quilting.

Correspondence dealt with a letter from the District Home Economist re the Short Course, to be held in February and suggested topics.

Discussion was held regarding the appointment of a Home Economist in the County of Vulcan and a motion was made to write Mr. Speaker, our MLA in this regard.

The matter of catering to the Kinsmen's dinner in December was discussed and committees named.

A motion was made to hold the December meeting Thursday, Dec. 2, a week earlier than scheduled. Mrs. Fitzpatrick will be hostess for this meeting, and an exchange of small Christmas gifts will take place.

Eleven members answered roll call with suggestions for the 1966 programs.

Mrs. Clifford Love took the chair and conducted the election of officers for the coming year. The following slate was returned: president, Mrs. Kuykendall, by acclamation; vice-president, Mrs. Earl Deal, re-elected; secretary, (Continued On Page 7)

About 78% of the 25,291 eligible voters in Macleod constituency turned out to vote and there were 76 rejected ballots.

The final count was:
Kindt (PC) 8,706
Patterson (SC) 6,487
Matheson (Lib.) 3,142

Course Needs More Applicants

At least six volunteers have signified intentions of taking the hunter-training course being organized by the Vulcan and District Fish & Game Association. About one dozen applicants are required to complete the proposed class and it is hoped to hold one course before the end of the year. Fish & Game president John Andrews is anxious to begin lectures as soon as possible and those interested are asked to contact him immediately.

The hunter-training course has many objectives all designed to promote safety in the use of firearms, an intelligent, knowledgeable attitude towards the sport of hunting and an appreciation of the need for conservation in the outdoors.

Govt. Control Is Legal

Supreme Court Upholds Communal Property Act

In a judgement based on two test cases, Mr. Justice J. V. H. Milvain of the Alberta Supreme Court last week ruled that the Alberta government's Communal Property Act is legal and within the powers of the Alberta legislature.

The specific effect of the judgement is to declare null and void two sales of land to Hutterites in Southern Alberta, one at Ewelme and one at Brant.

Three arguments for throwing out the provincial legislation were submitted to Mr. Justice Milvain and commented upon:

• The act is beyond the power of the provincial government in that it is religious discrimination, and makes Hutterites second-class citizens.

RULING: "It is certainly true the Act may well affect people of some religion farther than most others. That to me is inevitable but does not bring down the statute."

"Unless the courts exercise extreme care in construing the concept of religious freedom, I can visualize some far-reaching and ill effects."

Carrying the concept to an extreme could result in a situation where under "religious freedom," a group of people might adopt as part of their religion the belief that no taxes be paid to any government authority, Mr. Justice Milvain said.

• The act is contradictory to the Canadian Bill of Rights.

RULING: The Bill of Rights "would not bear upon a provincial statute." It is confined to the "laws of Canada."

• An 1899 letter from the deputy minister of the Department of the Interior assures certain Hutterite brethren of communal rights.

RULING: This does not legally bind the Legislature.

Approximately 6,000 Hutterites own approximately 490,000 acres in Alberta, the judgement estimates.

New CBC Farm Program Mondays

A new CBC radio program, Country Magazine, has been introduced to succeed the National Farm Forum and is heard Mondays at 9:00 p.m.

The hour-long program for rural and urban people is about life outside the cities of Canada. With Lamont Tilden as host, the program will feature the news stories affecting farmers, discussions and debates about current rural issues and Jack McPherson's Ottawa Letter.

THE WEATHER

A Chinook the latter part of last week brought 40-above weather that lasted until Monday. Tuesday brought more snow and zero range temperatures.

At 21st Charter Night

Respect For Fellow Man Needed Says Lion Gov.

"The big need today is a fundamental respect for one's fellow man," said James L. Dixon of Cascade, Ont., District Governor, when he spoke to 190 members of Lions clubs, their wives and guests at the Vulcan Lodge Hall last Friday evening. The occasion was the 21st annual charter night of the Vulcan Lions Club. Mr. Dixon is governor of District 37C, an international district comprised of both Montana and Alberta Lions Clubs.

Many advances have been made in the past 30 or 40 years, said the speaker, but these advances have not only been in beneficial things but also in methods of destruction. International organizations such as Lions clubs can be instrumental in bringing about a safe and sane situation, but what are we doing to improve present conditions, queried the speaker.

"What are we doing to teach youth to accept the responsibilities that will face them in the years ahead and are we really setting a good example for our young people?" asked Mr. Dixon.

Lionism can be a moving factor for the good of Canada, he said. Instilling in our young people a respect for their fellow men would be a big step towards achieving the common goal of peace on earth, the speaker concluded.

Martin Gottenberg was master of ceremonies for the evening, which started with a turkey dinner, and introduced the head table guests and visitors from neighboring Lions clubs. Mayor Gerry Ness extended a welcome from the town of Vulcan and President Arthur Jones welcomed the visitors and other guests on behalf of the Vulcan club.

A toast to the ladies, in verse, was proposed by Skeez Christensen and the reply, also in verse, was given by Lionette President Rose Munro. District Governor Dixon was introduced by Zone Chairman Hirst Goldthorpe and a gift presentation was made to Mrs. Dixon by Evan Williams on behalf of the club.

A demonstration of hypnotism by the president of the Calgary Hypnotism Society preceded the dance which occupied the remainder of the evening. Dave Shearer's Carmangay orchestra supplied the music.

Fire Causes $5000 Damage To New Home

Damage to the extent of about $5,000 was done to the Vern Myers home near Lake McGregor by fire Thursday, Nov. 18.

Returning from Vulcan at about 6:30 p.m., Mr. Myers found a chesterfield and part of the living room floor in flames. In attempting to move the chesterfield outside he sustained severe burns to his right hand. Neighbors were quickly on the scene and by using fire extinguisher "bombs" and closing all doors the fire was kept under control until the rural fire truck, with Fire Chief Bob Johnston and a crew of four, arrived and finished extinguishing the blaze.

The cedar log home, built last summer at a cost of $15,000, was badly charred inside in the living room and kitchen areas and most furnishings in these rooms badly damaged. The bedroom wing of the house suffered smoke damage. Cause of the fire has not been determined.

Kin Ladies' Night Successful Event

On Nov. 18, the Kinsmen Club of Vulcan held a Ladies Night in the Vulcan Cafe. There were approximately 20 couples present.

Following a turkey supper the regular meeting was held during which time the draw for the suit-of-the-month raffle was held; Greg Haga being the winner.

After the meeting a whist tournament was held with winners being: Ladies' high Mrs. Mary Hyslop and Mrs. Mary Haga (tied); low, Mrs. K. Reid; men's high, Vernal Haga; low, Larry Bartman.

It's fun and games as usual at the Vulcan Golf and Country Club's annual stag supper and part of the fun is tying into the big supper that precedes the program and games. Above at the self-serve grub table are Fred DeJong, Ivan Haga, Howie Klippert, Cliff Mc-

Askle and Ben Dann. This feast, normally paid for by losers in the summer president vs. vice-president competition turned out to be a "dutch treat" as both sides were tied in points at the conclusion of play.

Three Injured In Head-on Collision

A head-on collision three miles west and two miles north of Milo Saturday night resulted in severe leg injuries to Judy Willard, 21-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Willard, and less serious injuries to her companion, Ken Nelson and to Bob Marks, lone occupant of the second car. Both men are from the Milo district as is Miss Willard.

The trio was brought by ambulance to the Vulcan Hospital where the men were held for treatment, however Miss Willard was taken immediately to the Calgary General Hospital because of the complexity of her injuries. She suffered fractures to both legs and a broken wrist.

Ken Nelson, 24, was treated for a broken left hand, broken nose and multiple lacerations. Twenty-one year old Bob Marks suffered three broken ribs, torn shoulder muscles and multiple facial lacerations.

At approximately 11 p.m. the cars met at the top of a small hill on an extremely slippery north-south road.

A passing motorist went to the Jack Bushell farm a short distance away and the ambulance was called. Mr. Bushell then went to the Milo hall where Mr. and Mrs. Willard were attending a wedding anniversary celebration. The two men were taken by school van to Vulcan Hospital but Miss Willard was left in the car until the ambulance arrived.

Lundy Findlay and Andy Broere took the ambulance call and reported clear roads to the Corner Store & Garage and good gravel east but the north-south road was in very icy condition, slowing the car to about 25 miles per hour.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard followed the ambulance to Vulcan and on to the city.

Monday of this week Miss Willard had one arm in a cast and doctors were waiting for the swelling in her legs to ease before determining treatment.

Cause of the accident is as yet unknown and RCMP at Gleichen are investigating. Both cars remained on the road but were badly damaged.

SILENT PLEA FOR HELP. They say nothing, these children that live in the dark shadowy world of a Korean slum. They only look. And their eyes tell a thousand stories of hunger, cold and utter privation. These are the children the Unitarian Service Committee is helping with Canadian barley gruel, milk and warm clothing. But there is never enough to go around. In USC hands $1 feeds a child for 16 days with hot barley gruel or provides milk for 100 days. Contributions should be sent to USC headquarters, 56 Sparks Street, Ottawa 4.

"The Alberta Commercial Corporation helped us to expand"

When credit was unavailable through regular financial facilities this firm received monetary assistance from the Department of Industry and Development through the Alberta Commercial Corporation. Aid was made available for inventory financing which included purchase of raw materials or standard equipment components; for financing production equipment and for land and building financing to enlarge facilities. The Department also assisted this firm through the Alberta Bureau of Statistics with information on present and potential markets and the availability of materials. Services of the Department of Industry and Development extend beyond financial and statistical assistance to established firms. The counselling services of the Industrial Development Board encourage the formation of industrial committees in various centres and supply information to firms outside Alberta to promote the immigration of new industry. By providing financial, statistical and counselling assistance the Department of Industry and Development plays an important role in the economic progress of Alberta.

FINE CARE MEANS LONGER WEAR

Knowing how to select today's laundry aids means easier wash days, cleaner washes and extended length of wear of your garments.

Soft or softened water plus soap or synthetic detergents are essential in order to get clothes soft and clean. The minerals, calcium and magnesium present in the water supply give it its hardness. Water may be softened mechanically or chemically. Where water hardness is not a severe problem, the chemical method of softening is most likely to be used.

Packaged water softeners are of two kinds: A precipitating softener combines with the hard water minerals to form solid floating particles. It also leaves the water cloudy. This type of softener has a tendency to leave a deposit on the clothes, making them gray. Examples of a precipitating softener are Washing Soda, Borax, Sal Soda, Lightning and Rain Drops.

The second kind of softener is a non precipitating one. Calgon, as an example, ties up the hard water minerals leaving the water clear. No deposit is left on the clothes. This type of softener is sometimes referred to as a water conditioner.

Water softeners should be added to the wash and first rinse. When adding it to the wash cycle, do so before you add the soap or detergent. How much should be used? Add enough softener to give the water a soft, slippery feel. A good average is one teaspoon per gallon of water. By using a softener, the effectiveness of your soap or detergent is increased. Because of this, reduce the amount of detergent by the amount of softener added.

Two other minerals, sometimes present in water, may cause laundry problems. These minerals are iron and manganese. Iron may be removed mechanically. This is accomplished by an iron removal filter. Otherwise, a non precipitating softener such as Calgon can be used to help tie up the iron.

In water, analyzed as containing iron and manganese, avoid using a chlorine bleach. It tends to tint the entire wash yellow. In water containing these minerals, use a perborate or oxygen bleach.

Water softeners are but one of the many laundry aids available to us. Knowing whether you need them and if so, how to use them will make your laundering easier and more satisfying.

A new publication, "Your Home Laundry Guide" is available from your District Home Economist.

ALBERTA JUNIOR CITIZEN OF THE YEAR BULLETIN: HIGH RIVER GIRL HONORED FOR QUIET BRAVERY

Can a young person lead a normal life in spite of being crippled? Just ask thirteen-year old Joanne Tupkal! She has set an inspiring example to other handicapped youngsters.

Joanne was a polio victim when she was eleven months old. She has spent much of her life in the Alberta Children's Hospital in Calgary, and has undergone nine operations. In spite of wearing a brace and walking with crutches, Joanne recently volunteered for the track team and for the soft ball throw in her school. To earn her Second Class Girl Guide awards, she passed the same tests as children without physical handicaps. She takes part in marching and color parties and even plays dodge ball.

Happy, cheerful and uncomplaining, this enterprising girl has overcome her severe handicap in an exceptional manner.

We congratulate Joanne. Our thanks to Alberta's Weekly Newspaper Editors for their active co-operation in the Alberta Junior Citizen of the Year program, sponsored by Alberta's investor-owned electric utility companies.

This is one of a series of Junior Citizen Award announcements. Our special thanks to C. A. Clark, Editor of the High River Times, and to Joanne's nominators, Mrs. George Fisher and Mrs. H. J. Kinzell of High River.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Medicine Hat, Alta.
Auxiliary Hospital,
Nov. 5th, 1965.

Editor, The Advocate,
Dear Sir:

From my bed of helplessness here in the Auxiliary Hospital in Medicine Hat I want to thank all my dear friends in Vulcan and elsewhere for the beautiful cards and flowers and expressions of sympathy and goodwill. They are all much appreciated by me and my family. Sometimes it's like being dead and being at your own funeral.

I begged for permission to return home for election day, by ambulance, but all in vain. This is the first election in 30 years that I have not worked, in some capacity, at the Vulcan polls. This will be the first time since women were allowed to vote in Canada that I cannot use my franchise.

I am a fourth generation, Canadian born citizen and it has always been a sacred privilege for me to be able to cast my vote in my country. I cannot believe it would have hurt me to have been allowed to come home to vote.

As you know I suffered a little stroke while in Medicine Hat about three weeks ago. It has affected my speech and left my whole left side helpless. As I am naturally a left-handed person it makes it harder to use the right hand side which is not affected by the stroke.

These auxiliary hospitals are wonderful places for people who have an illness like this. I see many people who have had strokes, and have been treated here, are up and around again, living their normal lives. I hope this will soon be my lot and that I will be back again soon to my favorite little town.

Thanking all of you again for your expressions of sympathy and your prayers.

I hope mine is the last case to go down in medical history, for, living through a stroke is not a happy experience.

I am dictating this letter. Thank you Mr. Editor for the use of your paper as a medium to express my appreciation to everyone. You will always find me a booster for our weekly newspaper.

Yours truly,

Nellie M. Jantize.

Editor, The Advocate
Dear Sir,

I have in the last month or so, attended two large annual banquets in the basement of the Vulcan Lodge Hall. The first was the Senior Citizens' Night sponsored by the Lionettes Club and the second was the Charter Night of the Vulcan Lions Club. On both occasions the building was crammed beyond its capacity.

As I sat down to each of these banquets I was struck with the terrifying thought "What if a fire breaks out or someone with a warped sense of humor were to cry out "FIRE". In the panic that would inevitably result it cannot be estimated how many of our citizens and friends could quite conceivably lose their lives.

Must we sit back and wait till the front page of this publication is headlined with the news of a terrible tragedy before we can gather our resources together to rectify this situation?

The time has come when the citizens of the town of Vulcan should demand that their elected representatives take the necessary steps to see that adequate facilities are available to accommodate gatherings of large numbers of people. If this group would spearhead a drive to obtain these facilities now our chances of having them would be assured.

I realize that it takes a great deal of fortitude to admit that a mistake has been made. The opportunity for the town council to do an enormous job of public relations is at hand. I sincerely hope they will act upon it once.

Sincerely

Arthur Jones

COUNTY CENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL HI-LIGHTS

Last Friday night marked the beginning of an apparently promising 65-66 basketball season at County Central. The senior teams were hosted by Blackie, who, however hard they played, could not match the steady playing of the Central teams.

Excitement ran high through the first half of both games, as the scores remained relatively close; but in the second half rallies of scoring sent C.C.H.S. into comfortable leads.

Fouls played an important part in the boys' game as one team had over 25 fouls called.

Next Friday night Central teams will play at Cayley. Think positive teams and let's maintain the winning spirit.

An unavoidable happening occurred last Friday night when both a basketball game and a dance were scheduled. Many students hoped that the teams would be back from their game in time for the dance; however they weren't. Those people who did attend the dance enjoyed themselves and thought it was a success so the evening turned out alright after all.

On the Glee Club scene members are preparing for a busy schedule in December:

December 2 they will be going to Calgary to see the stage production of The Sound of Music.

December 10 they are taking part in the C.C.H.S. Variety Night.

December 15 the fourth annual Christmas Carol Festival is again being organized by the Glee Club. It will be held in the C.C.H.S. auditorium and the Glee Club is hoping that all Church Choirs will contribute a number or two.

Finally on December 20 they will be journeying to Champion to sing at a local Home and School Christmas Program.

Anyone who attended the volleyball tournament last Saturday (this undoubtedly does not include Central students since there were not more than 15 in attendance all day) will agree that there were many exciting and well played games. Milo won both the boys and girls events and deserve credit, not only on their fine playing, but especially of their spirit and team support.

Milo's boys' team showed more support for their girls' team than the whole of Central High School did for both Central teams. As a student I am ashamed to say I am a member of C.C.H.S. If students have school spirit, they sure don't know how to show it. The Central boys' team was forced to forfeit their first game because they couldn't even find six players from a school with well over 100 eligible boys. Had there been even one male spectator there to watch the first game, he could have been recruited as a sixth player. Not one could be found. Worse yet, when the Central girls got into the final against Milo there were fewer than five C.C.H.S. students there to support the team which was doing its best to win for a school that didn't even care.

The girls deserve credit for bothering to play at all. There should be at least 50 students in Vulcan alone who attend County Central and could have been there to cheer the girls along. If this is the kind of support which Central teams are to receive from the students they represent, there will soon be no one willing to carry the task of representation. Can you blame them?

Calgary Theatre Singers Present Sound of Music

The Calgary Theatre Singers will present "The Sound of Music" on stage at the Jubilee Auditorium, December 1, 2, 3 and 4. Eileen Higgin is the producer, stage setting is under the magical touch of Laszlo Funtek, Margot Gooder is directing the choreography, and Elgar Higgin is the musical conductor with Marilyn Perkins as Chorus Master. The director of this wonderful show is our well-known Gordon Gibbs.

The real people involved in "The Sound of Music" were members of the famous Trapp Family Singers, a pair of adults and a staircase of seven children who, from 1938 to 1945, were one of the most popular concert attractions in America.

Richard Rodgers, who wrote the music of "The Sound of Music", has composed score after score for the American musical theatre for more than thirty years, and each time he finishes a new work it is acclaimed for its freshness, its youth, its vitality, its inescapable charm.

CLERICS' CORNER

This week's contributor: Rev. Wellington Dormer
Vulcan United Church

The Christian Church is, first of all, a fellowship. It's main business, as a wise man has said, is to create the creators of a new society. It must build persons, the kind of persons, who in turn will build the kingdom of God. This means bringing ordinary people under the influence of the personality of Jesus.

The task of the church is the same "yesterday, today and forever," but the techniques must change with our times. One technique — Christian worship — is almost 2000 years old. Another technique — the Sunday School is not quite 200 years old. A few years ago 85% of new church members were the fruitage of mass evangelism or revivals. Today 85% of new church members come from the church school — an excellent return from our grandfathers' foresight in establishing the Sunday School.

Meanwhile, countless secular fraternal orders are supplying a sense of fellowship which the church has failed to supply. And one reason for the spread of labor unions is the sense of solidarity they give their members. This statement, published by a union might well be adopted by any church: "Now you belong to a great crusading army, but this army is also a family in which fellowship makes life better."

I believe our church to meet the challenge of our times must be: (1) a worshipping church. (2) an informed church. If we are to have disciples they must be taught. (3) It must form a close fellowship of its members.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Editor, The Advocate
Dear Sir,

In reply to the letter to the editor of the Vulcan Advocate November 17, 1965, I would respectfully like to express my views of what has happened since the Vulcan District Recreation Centre Society was first formed.

First I would like to make it quite clear that I have always been in favor of a new civic centre and was very disappointed when recent efforts towards this goal failed. However I cannot agree that either present or recent town councils held the gun or pulled the trigger to make this a 'dead issue'. In fact, I sincerely hope that most people of the Vulcan district do not regard this as a 'dead issue'.

The people who have worked so hard on this project, as well as those who have donated a great deal of thanks and gratitude from the community. It would be a terrible shame to see their efforts wasted.

Please realize that any remarks or criticisms in this letter are made purely with the thought of being constructive and not with the idea of degrading any group or single person. 'Hindsight' is always better than any other kind of sight. If we could look into the future, financing a civic centre would be no problem.

The recent Town Councils might possibly be criticized for not publicizing their opinions or financial position in regard to the civic centre, however I doubt if publicizing our finances would have been any assistance to the committee. The new $300,000.00 water system ended up costing over $320,000.00. The $300,000.00 portion was the maximum amount of the town's borrowing power (which is restricted by provincial regulations) and the excess cost drained the town's reserves. Since then money was borrowed so that 16.5 acres of land could be annexed to the west side of town and again the maximum borrowing power was exercised. In both cases money bylaws were necessary, since a town cannot spend in excess of five mills of its total assessment without one. (One mill now equals about $2,200.00 in Vulcan.) In other words, when the Recreation Committee first approached the town, the town was 'broke' and had exhausted all its borrowing power, therefore I fail to see how the council could have conscientiously endorsed or promised any financial assistance to the committee. The council did make land available for the project and has promised all the assistance possible in regard to 'Winter Works'.

After the County of Vulcan allocated a portion of its Centennial Grant to the town, the Town Council made the total grant available to the Vulcan Recreation Centre provided it could qualify financially.

Since the Vulcan Recreation Committee had not been successful in raising the necessary funds to construct the centre the Town Council was asked to provide this amount. Last October a money bylaw for the amount asked for to complete 'phase one' of the project was rejected by the rate payers: 140 'for' and 109 'against', a two thirds majority was required by provincial law. The Recreation Committee willingly accepted responsibility for publicizing this bylaw, yet I doubt if all ratepayers realized what 'phase one' was, or just why the committee had chosen to build the 'community hall' phase first.

The town was asked to help secure a loan from a bank by adding one dollar per month to town water bills. This plan has merit, but also many pitfalls. It could not be legally enforced and therefore could end in disaster. Time and ideas were running out and the Town Council had no alternative but to consider other proposals for the Centennial Grant.

Since I have only been a councillor for one year, it was necessary for me to go back through the town minutes. The town secretaries have compiled excerpts regarding the civic centre and the Town Council, these excerpts as well as all town minutes are available to all rate payers.

Now some 'Hindsight': If the Recreation Committee had followed the advice of a government recreation director they invited down to a public meeting, I feel that the end result might have been different. He suggested that the committee make a thorough survey which would have provided the following information and results:

1. The hobbies, clubs, lodges, social and recreation facilities that each individual would like to see incorporated into a civic centre.

2. How much time each person could spend on these activities.

3. The financial support they could give to these activities.

4. Activities of clubs and lodges in such a centre.

5. Financial support they could give.

6. If a recreation area (and with what boundaries) should be set up.

7. If a recreation director was needed.

8. Permanent records for use of director.

9. What size and design would be most practical for the building.

10. If a recreation or civic centre was actually desired by the majority in the area.

It is unfortunate that the Recreation Committee was faced with the tough decision of purchasing the Meadowlark building when they were. I believe that it was a very good buy and could be reconstructed to provide quite adequate facilities, but its purchase forced the committee to speed up financial campaigns which seemed to result in some unfairness and misunderstandings.

The Town Council is considering adopting a 20 year planning program which has recently been approved by the Provincial Town Planning Board. This is a complex program, but I believe it will provide invaluable information and suggestions for the town and district. It will project, after considerable research, such things as industry (including farming), population changes (rural and urban) and forecast future requirements for schools, hospitals, churches and recreation. We hope to be able to budget the town's progress and finances much more efficiently after this plan is completed.

One last thought: Mr. and Mrs. Citizen are always the ones who pay no matter whether the money comes from donations, grants or taxes. Vulcanites are paying $2,000 per year for the support of our present skating rink — is this adequate? — efficient? — extravagant? — or sufficient? Maybe the Town Council would have better guidance if more than half a dozen citizens showed up at annual town meetings.

Signed,
J. V. Christensen

BRAND NOTICES

L. Brinkhurst, Brand Recorder with the Alberta Department of Agriculture, says that livestock owners who want to maintain their brand must return their renewal application forms promptly. Anyone who fails to do this runs the risk of having his brand cancelled.

Each year at this time, or somewhat earlier, renewal notices are forwarded to roughly one quarter of the brand owners in this province. Many recipients return these promptly with renewal fees. An increasing number are being returned with such notations as "post office closed" "address unknown", etc. It is a well known fact that some post offices are being closed. It is also known that people are moving around more. Brands come up for renewal every four years. People who change addresses and do not notify the Brand Recorder run the risk of not receiving a renewal notice and thereby having their brand cancelled.

Mr. Brinkhurst reports that there are approximately 37,000 cattle brands and about 4,000 horse brands being used in Alberta at the present time. So far this year, over 1,300 new cattle brands have been registered and about 290 transferred. During the same period approximately 100 new horse brands were issued and about 20 transferred.

Since last December 9,000 cattle brand and 1,000 horse brand renewals have been sent out to livestock owners. All brands have to be renewed every four years and most of the notices are sent out between September and December. If you have had a change of address within the past four years and have not notified the Brand Recorder, you may not receive a renewal notice and in that case will eventually (end of March 1966) have your brand cancelled. Mr. Brinkhurst says 45 new cattle brands were registered in October and 23 were transferred to other owners. Six new brands were issued during the same period and two were transferred.

Apathy towards fire prevention can be cured by your house burning down. Prevention is better than that cure.

REPORT FROM EDMONTON

by J. Wally Strang

The capital city played host to some very important people during the week . . . and the announcement by the chairman of the Liquor Control Board brought a few smiles from hotel operators this week as well . . .

The VIPs who silently stole into the city and met with government officials as well as paying a visit to the Athabasca Tar Sands, happened to be no less than the president of SUN OIL COMPANY, the parent company of the Great Canadian Oil Sands Ltd.

For what it's worth . . . things at the Tar Sands are looking tremendous . . . and the town of Fort McMurray is developing so fast it's almost shocking. As it's commonly known now . . . Fort McMurray is rapidly becoming that "Jewel of the North".

It's surprising how many Albertans don't know what's happening at the Sands, despite the fact they have shares in Great Canadian. To these people I can say . . .
Great Canadian development at the Sands is nothing less than spectacular and your company is booming ahead.

I know a number of newsmen will wonder how people like Mr.
Thayer can come into Edmonton, visit with the government and disappear without them knowing . . .
but for the record our readers
read it here first.

365 DAYS OF KLONDIKE

The announcement by the Liquor Control Board chairman, Peter Elliott, that live entertainment will be allowed in Cocktail Lounges and Beer Parlors . . . brought smiles from hotel operators.

This change was predicted in this paper some months ago . . . in fact it was right after Klondike Days. Let's face it, when enough people want the same thing . . .

and it's not doing any harm . . .
why shouldn't they get it. Alberta is not as most outsiders think . . .
the Bible Belt of Canada. Just because our Premier has strong religious convictions and is recognized across the country as a religious man . . . this does not mean we are dictated to by the church or the Bible, although it probably wouldn't do us any harm . . . We have a good progressive province
 . . . and the latest legislation shows we are continuing to progress . . . with progress. Cheers to Peter Elliott.

The first Easter Seal was sold in Alberta 20 years ago. On Saturday, November 13, on the occasion of Alberta's Easter Seal Workshop being held at Edmonton's Macdonald Hotel in preparation for the 1966 Easter Seal campaign, the official Easter Seal flag was raised for the first time in Canada by Alberta's "Timmy", Roy Umbach of Carstairs, Alberta.

Roy, born with only partial hands, used a new hand prosthesis to raise the flag.

Alberta was chosen as the site for the first official flag raising in commemoration of the introduction of Easter Seals to Canada. Twenty years ago, in 1945, the Children's Aid Hospital Society of Calgary first used the seals as a fund raising medium to support the work for crippled children.

The flag, which employs the traditional Easter Seal Lily, slightly modernized, has a solid blue symbol in the centre of a pure white field. Designed by a prominent corporate designer James Stewart of Toronto and Toronto production consultant Ron Cross, this flag will fly over Easter Seal Agencies across Canada to perpetuate the Easter Seal movement.

HOME & SCHOOL ASSOCIATION

The Home and School met last Tuesday night with a fair attendance. Routine business was dealt with and it was voted to put out lists again for candy bags for the children to be presented at the Christmas Program. A letter was read in regard to Special Cases for Grade 12 and 9 students. This Special Cases Committee has been in effect ever since there has been formal education in Alberta, which was of interest to the group because we believe there are many who do not know about it. There will be a carload to go to the Home and School meeting in Vulcan on the 29th. Lunch was served by Mrs. Julie Brown and Mrs. Irene Dunn. There will not be another meeting until January. Following the meeting Mrs. Milt Ward gave a talk and showed pictures of her trip to the ACWW conference.

THE ASSOCIATED COUNTRY WOMEN OF THE WORLD

Their work now covers five continents and the women are learning to help each other and best of all to work with each other. To accomplish this great task seminars are held in various places of the world. Here they work on programs of nutrition, health and the work of the voluntary organizations in their area. Regional conferences are held and a very successful one was held at Sarawak.

The magazine "Country Woman" goes to thousands of homes around the world. The ACWW flag has become a symbol of people in a changing world helping each other.

The ACWW office in London, England is a hive of industry with many women giving their services without remuneration.

In speaking of the ACWW conference in Dublin Mrs. Ward emphasized the warm welcome given by the Irish Country women. Their president Eamon de Valera gave a delightful welcome party assisted by the prime minister Sean Lemass. All Canadian delegates were entertained at the Canadian Embassy.

The theme of the conference of country women was "Working Together". The 1304 delegates who attended came from 46 countries around the world. One delegate from each country brought a message from their own association and the government of her own land. Principal speakers were Dr. Joseph G. Knapp of Washington D.C. who is the administrator for Farmer Co-operative Service for the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture. He stressed the need of co-operatives in the development of the whole program of the Associated Country Women of the world. Monsignor F. J. Smyth of Coady International Institute of St. Francis Xavier University in Antigonish, Nova Scotia gave his talks on Community services as worked out by co-operatives around the world. He said co-operatives study paves the way for co-operative living. His talks were profoundly interesting and touched on many phases of the ACWW work. Then to sum up the whole theme of Working Together Mrs. Greta Bergstrom of the Swedish Consumer Institute entitled her address, "What co-operation means to Rural People".

Women from Greenland, Sumatra, Rhodesia, Philippines and 42 other countries shared their experiences and efforts in all parts of the world to feed the hungry, educate the masses and finally to foster peace. FAO work was outlined by Mrs. Bergstrom in detail as she worked under that program as a Home Economics teacher in Tanzania and so it went with delegates from around the world exchanging their ideas. The Lady Aberdeen Scholarship fund which is financed by Pennies for Friendship has awarded 166 scholarships to date. These enable women to take training that fits them to go back to their respective countries and help the rural women in many ways. All delegates and visitors were urged to buy UNICEF Christmas cards as all receipts are used in the Save the Children Fund. On the last evening all the delegates were entertained by Epsa at a delightful musical evening and buffet supper. The Irish women did a marvellous job of entertaining more than 3000 women from around the world. The next Triennial Conference will be in three years in Michigan, U.S.A.

The famous Appian Way from Rome to Capua was wide enough to permit wagons to pass one another.

Such-Foster Rites Held At St. Andrew's Church

A pretty fall wedding was solemnized at St. Andrew's Catholic Church, Oct. 23 when Rev. Father Marien officiated at the marriage of Marilyn Anne, only daughter of Mrs. Geraldine Foster and the late Howard Foster to Joseph Such, son of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Such of Picture Butte.

The bride given in marriage by her eldest brother Ronald was attired in a floor-length gown of rayon taffeta with lace appliques and lily point sleeves. She carried a nosegay of red roses and white carnations with white streamers and red rosebuds.

Mrs. Beryl Foster as matron of honor was attired in pastel pink nylon and net dress with matching veil and carried a nosegay of pink carnations.

Miss Dawna Foster, little niece of the bride, was flower girl and was attired in a white lace dress trimmed with pink rosebuds and matching bonnet and carried a basket of sweetheart roses.

Allan Arneson of Lethbridge was best man and Alex Such, brother of the groom, was usher.

During the nuptial mass Mrs. William McCormack, aunt of the bride was soloist accompanied on the organ by Mrs. Doreen Skaalrud of Carlsland.

A reception for 70 close friends and relatives was held in the parish hall with Steve Nemeth of Picture Butte as master of ceremonies. Father Marien proposed the toast to the bride to which the groom responded. Mr. Arneson toasted the matron of honor. Mrs. Wm. McCormack favored the guests with two lovely solos.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Foster wore a two piece dress of turquoise and black crepe with black accessories and a corsage of pink candy striped carnations. Mrs. Such, mother of the groom was attired in a blue suit with black accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. After a short honeymoon the young couple are residing at Park Lake where the groom is employed with the Lethbridge Northern Irrigation Company.
